gynecological patients to evaluate safety and effectiveness of MESA 2: a novel pharmaceutical form and administration method. MESA 2 is a sustained release insert placed at the apex of the vagina. It is placed during hysterectomy or myomectomy procedures, to release levonorgestrel or etonogestrel continuously and prevent breakthrough bleeding. MESA 2 has not previously been assessed for safety and effectiveness in patients at high risk of vaginal bleeding after surgery. In this multicentre randomised controlled trial, at high risk patients were assigned at surgery either MESA 2 (n = 102) or placebo (n = 77) and continued on MESA 2 or placebo for up to 12 months. Safety assessments included contraceptive acceptability, adverse events (AEs) and serious AEs (SAEs). Efficacy endpoints included bleeding rates, haematological parameters and clinical measures. There were few AEs reported by women allocated MESA 2 and placebo. Vaginal bleeding (78 and 32 per cent) and breakthrough bleeding (21 and 35 per cent) was lower in the MESA 2 than placebo groups. There was no significant difference in contraceptive use, haematological parameters or clinical measures in either group. Overall, MESA 2 was well tolerated. A simple, non-hormonal, vaginal insert with low side-effects may reduce bleeding in patients at high risk of vaginal bleeding after surgery. But the phenomenon, first evident in 11th grade, could have lasting effects on their lives. Most of them are struggling to pay their own bills and worry about how they'll pay for college. YouTuber and influencer, James Charles, recently spoke about his struggle
