Avira Phantom VPN is a virtual private network that can be used on any PC, Mac or Linux device. Avira Phantom VPN lets you access the internet as if you were on a remote location. The service allows you to create an anonymous internet connection that is both secure and free, and you can use it to protect your identity and activities online. Avira Phantom VPN is available for Windows, Mac and Linux. It is a freemium product, and if you want premium features you will need to purchase a premium version. It is available in two versions, Standard and Pro. Standard only allows you to create one secure tunnel, while Pro gives you the ability to create as many secure tunnels as you like, as well as additional functionality. Both versions of the app are simple to set up and manage, and they can be configured easily. Avira Phantom VPN is based on a VPN protocol called IPSec. It is a secure connection that encrypts all the information that is sent between the client and the server, and the server will decrypt it before sending it out to the internet. Avira Phantom VPN supports a number of VPN protocols, but the only one that is supported by default is OpenVPN. Using Avira Phantom VPN is easy. When you first install the app, you will have to add your VPN server to the list of servers. You then select a connection method, either auto-start or manual start, then click the Start button. You will then be asked to enter your username and password to connect to the VPN. After you have logged in, you can select the server location that you want to connect to. Avira Phantom VPN will then connect you to it using IPSec, which is why you cannot choose the protocol yourself. When you are online, the app will automatically disconnect when it detects that you are no longer using it. This is to protect you against theft, malware and identity theft. Avira Phantom VPN allows you to be anonymous online, and it also protects your browsing activity. All of your internet traffic is encrypted, and no one will be able to see what websites you visit or what information you are sharing. Avira Phantom VPN is a simple and reliable VPN service that is available for free.
